

Wykeham Day 2007

Another glorious early-autumn day at Win Coll rewarded approximately 200 Old Wykehamists, past dons, staff and their guests, who attended Wykeham Day on Saturday 15th September

Chapel began to fill from 11 o'clock in anticipation of the uplifting service which was to follow, at which the Headmaster gave an inspiring sermon. The Warden addressed the congregation after the choir's procession at the end of the service.

A buffet luncheon was held in a marquee on Meads, with many choosing to sit outside to enjoy the fine weather, before everyone dispersed around the grounds and buildings to sample the variety of events and exhibitions on offer. Of particular note was a very moving talk given in Science School's Lecture Theatre by Shaun Hullis, Classics don, entitled 'With the Partisans: One Wykehamist's War', which attracted an audience of over 50, whilst the special service in Chantry, organised by Mark Stephens (F, 1955-59), was also well supported.

The day finished with Tea, whether in the Warden's Lodgings for members of the William Stanley Goddard [legacy] Society, or in College Hall for those joining the Master in College's tour of the newly extended and refurbished College Chambers and for the Chantry congregation.
